From the Pastor

October 31st, commonly called Halloween, is so-called because it is "all-hallows evening" or the evening of all (the) hallows (the holy ones), the Saints. We start the month of November with the saints who remind us that Christ is our hope during this earthly pilgrimage to our heavenly home. The readings this month will also focus on the end times in light of our eternal destination. The saints are a good example of how we might better prepare for our own death by the way that we live our life. Death is not the end, but a transition. The Catechism of the Catholic Church #1020 states: "The Christian who unites his own death to that of Jesus views it as a step towards him and an entrance into everlasting life." Let us follow the example of the saints who united their lives to Christ by seeking and following His will.

Let us also pray for the Holy Souls in Purgatory who have died in the state of grace but who are still imperfectly purified. They are certain of entering Heaven, but first must be purified "to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of heaven." (Catechism # 1030). The Holy Souls cannot help themselves because for them the night has come, when no man can work (John 9:4). It is our great privilege of being members of the Body of Christ that we can shorten their time of separation from God by our prayers, good works, and, especially the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine upon them. May they rest in peace. Amen.

In Christ's Peace,
Fr. Guadagnoli
Pastor

De El Pastor

El 31 de Octubre es comúnmente llamado Halloween, palabra proviene del inglés antiguo “all hallows eve” que significa, víspera de todos los Santos. Iniciamos el mes de noviembre con los santos que nos recuerdan que Cristo es nuestra esperanza durante nuestro peregrinar en la tierra hacia nuestra casa en el cielo. Las lecturas de este mes también se enfocaran en el final de los tiempos a la luz de nuestro destino eterno. Los santos son un buen ejemplo de cómo prepararnos para nuestra muerte en la forma que vivimos nuestra vida. La muerte no es el final, sino una transición. El Catecismo de la Iglesia Católica, (1020) dice: “El cristiano que une su propia muerte a la de Jesús ve la muerte como una ida hacia Él y la entrada en la vida eterna.” Sigamos el ejemplo de los santos que unieron sus vidas a Cristo, buscando y siguiendo Su voluntad.

También, oremos por las Santas Almas en el Purgatorio quienes murieron en estado de gracia pero que aun están imperfectamente purificadas. Es seguro que entraran al Cielo, pero primero deben ser purificadas, “a fin de obtener la santidad necesaria para entrar en la alegría del cielo.” (CIC, 1030). Las Santas Almas no pueden ayudarse asimismo porque ha llegado la noche para ellos, cuando ningún hombre puede trabajar (Jn. 9:4). Es un gran privilegio ser miembros del Cuerpo de Cristo que podemos acortar el tiempo de separación con Dios a través de nuestras oraciones, buenas obras y especialmente en el Santo Sacrificio de la Misa. Dales Señor el eterno descanso; que luzca para ellos la luz perpetua. Que descansen en paz. Amen.
